

WHOLESALE SYSTEMS INC. PRICING & RETURN POLICY

Pricing:

The price that you buy one of our products at reflects the current market pricing that day/time. Due to market price fluctuations we do not adjust our sales prices AFTER the sale is completed by you. If you find a better price from another vendor following your purchase from us, you may elect to cancel your order prior to it being shipped. After that, you will need to follow the standard return process. See the return policy below for details.

Return Policy:

We offer a limited return policy that varies per item (14-30 days from date of delivery on select items). We do not match Amazon's return policy, or extended return holiday return policy. If you have questions about the length of the return policy for an item, please ask us. In the event of a return request, WE will handle the return process with you. All items returned must be returned in original packing, unused, uninstalled or unaltered. We will inspect all returned items and make a determination on the returnable state of the item and will notify the customer of this determination.

As part of our return policy, the buyer agrees to pay the return shipping of the item.

Furthermore, the buyer understands and agrees that Wholesale Systems Inc. will charge a standard restocking fee of 20% of the purchase price under the following conditions including:

- If the buyer “changes their mind” and elects to return the item in the original condition within the return window above.
- If the buyer’s purchase is an "accidental order" and returns an item in its original condition within the return window
- If the buyer "no longer wants/needs" the item and returns it in the original condition within the return window.
- If the buyer elects to return the item and the item is returned damaged, with missing packaging, missing parts, previously installed/used in the case of consumable/assembled items, for example, water filters, furniture, etc., or in otherwise unsellable condition.
- If the buyer returns the item and indicates that it is damaged or defective and when returned is inspected and deemed to be neither damaged nor defective.

In addition, Wholesale Systems Inc. will not charge a restocking fee under the following conditions including:

- If your item is shipped to you damaged in the shipping process.
- If the item is defective and returned within the return window described above.
- If the item buyer received is materially different from what they ordered, and the return is processed within the return window.